FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
TRUSTEES OF THE STATE LUNATIC HOSPITAL.
DECEMBER, 1847.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and to the Honorable Council:

THE Trustees of the State Lunatic Hospital, at Worcester, have the honor of presenting this, their FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The Report of the Superintendent, and that of the Treasurer, hereto appended, give “a particular statement of the condition of the Hospital, and of all its concerns,” as required by the statute, so far as relates to their departments. It will be seen that the Hospital, notwithstanding its enlargement, continues to be crowded; that the number of chronic cases is constantly increasing, the uncured residue of each year augmenting that of the last; and that the number of foreigners is, also, increasing. It is gratifying, however, to see that a much larger proportion of patients is brought to the Hospital while their insanity is yet recent, than formerly. This evinces the general confidence in the Institution, and the popular conviction of its greater advantage to the patient according as his residence here is early. The more favorable results of treatment, under these circumstances, explain why, although the number of chronic cases is constantly increasing by accumulation, their proportion to the whole number of residents has increased but very slowly.

The accumulation of incurables may, in process of time, become such as to alter the character of the Institution, rendering its curative power inoperative from want of room for subjects. The Legislature has wisely provided for the discharge and care of such incurable patients as get no peculiar advantage from residence here. Proper accommodations for such patients have been prepared in three of our cities and some of our larger towns. The provision is timely. It relieves the Hospital, and developes its advantages.

The increase of foreigners is an evil the more to be regretted, because there is reason to fear that it may be, still further, an increase of incurables. The number of foreigners, mostly Irish, admitted the past year, is sixty, being one fourth of the whole number admitted; while the number of foreigners discharged is thirty-five, being only one sixth of the whole number discharged. Their misery, their ignorance and their jealousy stand in the way of their improvement at the Hospital. But these should be only so many more claims to our charity; and, while it is pleasant to know that they are well taken care of here, if the advantage is less to them, it is greater to society.

By an act of the Legislature, at their last session, the Trustees were authorized "to provide new apartments for the furiously insane patients," and, for this purpose, six thousand dollars were appropriated, in addition to the unexpended balance of the Johonnot Fund. In accordance with this act, the Trustees, after much consultation with the Superintendent, and consideration of plans and sites, and in view of the sum appropriated, thought it best to depart from their original purpose of erecting a separate building, and make an addition to the Johonnot wing, so called, on the side of the Hospital appropriated to females,—thus providing, at first, accommodations for females only. This addition is now nearly completed, on a plan presented by the Superintendent. In external appearance, it is uniform with the rest of the building. Its apartments are removed, in each story, from those occupied by other patients in that wing, by an open corridor ten feet in width and thirty-six feet in length, in which, it is hoped, some of these "furiously insane" may, in their more quiet time, be allowed a little wholesome exercise, and a view of the outer world, from a sight of which some of them have been, for a long time, excluded. These apartments are removed further by a passage-way leading around the cells, and thereby almost isolating them. The passage-way is lighted from without, and the cells are lighted from the passage by open-work doors. Under this arrangement, it is thought that there will be as little disturbance of the other patients or of the public, by noise, as if these apartments were in a separate building, unless that building were quite remote; and the advantages of being under the same roof, with facilities of supervision, and distribution of food, are obvious. The building is three stories in height, with five apartments eleven feet eight inches long, five feet to five feet eight inches broad, and seven feet eleven inches high, on each story. The apartments on the lower story are made with stone floors laid in cement, and the walls are of brick, laid in cement, also, and whitewashed. The floors of the apartments in the other stories are of southern pine, and the walls are of brick, plastered, those in the second story being also laid in cement. The building is heated by furnaces placed in the cellar, and ventilated by large flues in the walls. Cleanliness is secured by an appropriate inclination of the floors.

The sum expended on this addition is thirty-six hundred and sixty-two dollars and eight cents, being not quite the unexpended balance of the Johonnot Fund.

The remainder of the appropriation will be applied to the erection of suitable apartments for males "furiously insane," so soon as a plan can be determined upon. Neither of the wings on the side of the Hospital appropriated to males admits so readily of extension. And while the Trustees have thought it best to await the trial of the apartments erected, they hope, also, to get some valuable information from the observation of one of our Assistant Physicians, Dr. Rufus Woodward, who goes to Europe the ensuing spring, and will visit Institutions for the Insane.

The resignation of the Hon. Alfred D. Foster, upon whose services, as Treasurer of the Hospital, a merited eulogium was passed in the last annual report, took effect on the fourth of March. The Trustees considered themselves fortunate in being able to secure, as his successor, Samuel Jennison, Esq., so long and so favorably known as the Cashier of the Worcester Bank, and Treasurer of the Worcester County Institution for Savings. Mr. Jennison is not more distinguished for his precision and good order in business, than for his private worth.

The expenditures of the last year, including paid balance against Hospital, Dec. 1, 1846, - - - - - $1,772 80
And the proper expenses of the year - - - - - 37,670 65

Have been - - - - - $39,444 45

While the receipts have been - - - - - $45,662 92
Leaving a balance, in favor of the Hospital, of - - - 6,218 47

It is presumed that the receipts of the year ensuing will equal those of the year past; and the Trustees feel themselves warranted in reducing the price of board from two dollars fifty cents to two dollars thirty-three and one third cents, per week. The probability of larger incidental expenses for the year to come would render it imprudent for them to make a larger deduction.

While the Trustees take pleasure in being able to present the general and financial condition of the Hospital in so favorable a light, they feel themselves called upon to express their public commendation of the valuable services of the Superintendent, Dr. Chandler, to whom our continuance of prosperity is, in a large measure, owing. Under his services, so ably seconded by his Assistants, Dr. J. R. Lee and Dr. Rufus Woodward, and by the Steward, Mr. C. P. Hitchcock, whose fidelity is made more efficient by his experience, we are sure that this important charity will continue to be an honor to the State, as it is an ornament to humanity.

SUPERINTENDENT TO THE TRUSTEES

STATE LUNATIC HOSPITAL.

GENTLEMEN :—The former prosperity of the Hospital crowns the results of the past year. We feel confident that Providence has smiled upon our labors, in bestowing upon our numerous family a great degree of health and happiness, and in restoring to their right minds a large number of those committed to our care.

We have received nearly all for whom application has been made ; and a large number has come to us, so that our apartments have been constantly crowded. At no time in the year have we had a spare room. Twenty-six, on an average, more than our whole number of rooms, have resided with us throughout the year. Although this crowded state of the Hospital has been a source of trouble and perplexity to us, we have felt unwilling to refuse the benefits of the institution to any whose unfortunate condition gave them a claim upon it. By placing two of the quiet patients in one room ; by making up temporary beds in the halls, and by using our infirmaries for sleeping apartments when not otherwise occupied, we have been able to give our inmates comfortable and generally satisfactory accommodations.

The health of the patients has generally been good. The amount of disease, of an acute character, has not been greater in this Hospital than there has been among an equal number of persons in this community, out of it. The insane seem to be, at least partially, exempt from some of the diseases which afflict others. Or it may be that their disease of the brain takes the place of other diseases of the body, or wards them off. This is in conformity with the theory that two diseases are not apt to affect the system at the same time. The only prevailing disease was an affection of the bowels during a part of the warm season.

The "Tabular View of the Hospital, for the past year, deduced from the records thereof," is hereunto annexed.

Some counties send proportionally more patients to the Hospital than others. This is because of the contiguity of some ; of the greater facility of some of communicating with the institution ; and because of the more unstable character of the population in some counties than in others. The rural population have generally homes and conveniences of their own, for taking care of their sick, when any of their number become insane ; whereas the inhabitants of cities and manufacturing villages more frequently live in crowded and inconvenient places for taking proper care of the sick. They therefore are more likely to avail themselves of privileges and accommodations offered by the Hospital.

Almost every part of the State is represented in the wards of the institution. But some sections of it more fully than others. In the immediate vicinity of the Hospital, the poor and friendless insane are often found wandering about in great destitution ; some of whom are brought to us legally by the benevolent, upon whom they intrude themselves. It is often the case, that we can learn but very little of their history until they recover and are able to tell it themselves.

There have been in the institution, during the year, six hundred and seven patients. At the commencement of the year, there were three hundred and sixty-seven; and, during the year, two hundred and forty have been admitted. Three hundred and ninety-four remain at the close of the year.

Of the admissions, the number whose disease has existed less than one year, is one hundred and fifty-nine; and the number where the insanity had lasted longer than one year, is seventy-two; and nine have been brought to us, about whom nothing definite could be ascertained, as to the length of time they had been insane.

The Probate Courts have sent most of our patients to us. The higher courts have committed a few to the Hospital, where the jurors have not found them, on their trial, guilty of crimes alleged against them, by reason of insanity.

The overseers of the poor of towns have placed some of their insane poor here; and they have, in some instances, given their obligations for the maintenance of their townsmen here, when the bills have been paid by the patients themselves or their friends.

The patients, who have been received, on the obligations of friends, have all been proper subjects for such an institution, and would, undoubtedly, have been placed here legally, if application for that purpose had been made to the proper authorities.

The number of foreigners in the Hospital has increased during the past year. This was to be expected from the greatly increased immigration to the Commonwealth. Several who had but recently arrived in this country, have come to us. Only one, as far as we know, of all those who, since their arrival, have had the ship-fever—that disease of filth and destitution—has been committed to our care. Most of the foreigners are Irish. The want of forethought in them to save their earnings for the day of sickness, the indulgence of their appetites for stimulating drinks, which are too easily obtained among us, and their strong love for their native land, which is characteristic with them, are the fruitful causes of insanity among them. As a class, we are not so successful in our treatment of them as with the native population of New England. It is difficult to obtain their confidence, for they seem to be jealous of our motives; and the embarrassment they are under, from not clearly comprehending our language, is another obstacle in the way of their recovery.

The whole number who have left the Hospital, the past year, is two hundred and thirteen. Of these, one hundred and three had recovered, and were able, on their return to their homes, to resume their former duties of life and station in society. Twenty-three were convalescent when they were taken away, some of whom, we believe, have since fully recovered. Pecuniary considerations have led towns and individuals to procure the removal of forty-three, most of whom would probably not have recovered, had they remained. Thirty have died. The mortality among our household has been less this year than the year before. It has been remarked, by those most conversant with the diseases of the insane, that they are often unexpectedly fatal. The complication of insanity with other physical diseases increases the danger of their symptoms, and renders them more difficult to manage.

The largest number of patients at any time was three hundred and ninety-seven, and the smallest number, during the year, was three hundred and fifty-nine. The number of rooms designed for and occupied by the inmates, besides the infirmaries, is three hundred and fifty-one. Consequently, our yearly average has been twenty-six more patients than we have proper accommodations for.

The admissions have been the fewest in the cold weather. This has heretofore been pretty uniformly the case, and the same holds true with regard to the discharges.

The Hospital has been in a crowded condition every day for the past year. It has never been more so. The year closes with three hundred and ninety-six patients. From the commencement of its operations, its numbers have gradually been increasing; and, as fast as its accommodations have been enlarged, they have been sought for and taken up by the unfortunate insane.

Massachusetts has done more for its citizens, in this department of benevolence, than any other portion of this country. More than one in a thousand of her population are provided for, in public and private hospitals for the insane. It is safe to predict, that an accurate census of the insane and idiots, who are incapable of taking care of themselves, would show that they were as many as four to every thousand of the inhabitants of the Commonwealth. And such, too, I believe to be the melancholy fact in regard to their proportion in the neighboring states.

The established rate of board is two dollars and fifty cents per week. In but very few instances has there been any charge for patients' support here, made beyond that. In cases of acute disease, where a special nurse has been devoted to the patient, an extra charge for the time has been made. These extra expenses have always been cheerfully met by the friends; and, indeed, the wish is often expressed by the friends, when the patient is brought to us, to have all attention paid to the patients that may be desirable.

Although it has been a year of plenty, provisions have borne high prices. The best and most wholesome articles of food have been selected for consumption here. It is our rule, to purchase no poor article of food, however low the price. The selection of provisions by the steward has been judiciously made. The diet of the patients has always been full and wholesome; and, during the last year, its variety and abundance have in no respect been diminished. But very few complaints of the living have been made by the patients, for there have been no good grounds to do so.

A generous diet contributes to the quiet and happiness of the inmates. The debilitated, and most of our patients are so, require a nutritious regimen. The sick have a diet daily prescribed for them, such as the nature of their diseases may require. But the ordinary fare of the whole household—patients, attendants, and officers—is intended to be, throughout, the same for each.

Strangers visiting the wards of the Hospital, often express their surprise at seeing so large a proportion of the inmates in the middle and advanced periods of life. It is true, that a majority of them have lived more than half the years allotted to man. But their age now does not afford the true index to the ages at which they were attacked with their malady, for the incurable have advanced on in their journey of life, as fast as though the hand of disease had not been upon them.

Almost all ages are represented here. We have one man over eighty years old, and we have a boy and a girl, aged about thirteen years each. They were sane and intelligent up to the ages of ten and twelve. Dementia followed measles in the case of the girl; but in the case of the boy, no probable cause has ever been conjectured. Perverseness of disposition and irritability of feeling had existed some months before insanity was suspected. The common forms of insanity do not usually commence until the mind becomes somewhat matured; until the individual begins to think and act for himself.

This table shows that the middle period of life is the most subject to derangement. A few of the aged become insane. They stand a good chance to recover if their derangement is not marked with delirium. When it is, old age is usually the cause of the insanity.

Some idiots become deranged. What little intellect they have is insane. A few cases of this kind have been in this institution. The congenital idiot is as likely as any person to have his intellect disturbed by disease. The very fact of their brain not being fully developed, may show its weakness and predisposition to disease. Slighter causes may disturb their minds. They frequently recover their former tone and strength of mind. They are less likely, perhaps, to recover, than other insane persons; for the relative strength of their passions over their reflective powers is greater, and the controlling power of the intellect over the feelings is less strong; and this continues, in a degree, true while deranged.

The causes of insanity are various and complicated. In some cases they are very manifest, and in others they do not appear. Some are sudden in their effects, others have been forming and growing during the whole life of the individual, the whole education of whom has tended to this sad result. The causes, and the combination of causes, are as numerous as the patients themselves, although most of them are arranged under a few specific heads ; as ill health, for instance,—one of the most fruitful causes of insanity,—is the general term for all diseases. Domestic affliction is another of the causes to which a large proportion of cases is ascribed ; but loss of friends, sickness of friends, mismanagement of friends, &c., all bring affliction to the domestic circle. Defective education,—or the want of proper moral, intellectual, and physical training,—seems to be the broad foundation from which arise most of the causes of insanity.

At the head of this list stands the farmer, whose occupation has always been proverbial for its healthfulness. This proverb is undoubtedly a true one. There cannot be thought of a healthier employment, than moderate out-door labor in cultivating the products of the earth; but it is often the case, that the farmer labors too constantly and too severely. He then goes beyond the healthful point of exercise, and creates diseases that may be contingent to his occupation, but not the natural result of it. As his labors meet with but small remuneration, he is forced to over-exertion, to supply the artificial wants created by the present state of society. Until a correct census of the different occupations in the community, and of the insane in each of them, is taken, the relative proportion of the insane in them cannot be known with certainty.

The fatal diseases of the insane are somewhat peculiar to them. A large proportion of the deaths are from affections of the nervous and restorative systems—marasmus and palsy. In the progress of these diseases, when the predisposition, either hereditary or acquired, is strong, insanity sets in, and death most generally closes the scene. Most of the fatal diseases have been a long time undermining the systems before the final result took place. We have but few acute diseases, and deaths from them are comparatively rare. Most of those who have died were incurably insane, and would not ever have had rational enjoyment of life if they had survived.

These results will probably be varied as more extensive data are added from year to year. The length of the insane life will undoubtedly be somewhat increased when more of the chronic cases are added to the list. But still, the results here offered approximate the truth.

A few of the incurable insane, whose maladies do not produce extensive disorganization of important vital organs, continue along many years, leading a life of happiness mixed with woe. But a large majority of the insane who do not recover, fall victims to some of "the numerous ills that flesh is heir to," early in the progress of their insanity. It is a melancholy deduction of this table, that insanity, when not cured, terminates fatally in a little more than four years and a half; while it is a well-established fact that the sane, at the corresponding period of life, have the prospect of living more than four times as long.

The above table embraces all the fatal cases in the Hospital where all the data were known.

This community is, I believe, well aware of the fact, that the sooner, after the attack of insanity, the patient is placed under curative treatment, the greater is the chance of recovery; and most people, where they have the means, bring their insane friends to the Hospital in the early stage of the disease. All things considered, I would not generally recommend patients to be brought to the Hospital earlier than the third or fourth week from its commencement, for there are many cases of acute disease combined or accompanied with insanity as one of its symptoms. In these cases, the insanity often subsides when the disease terminates.

But, as soon as the disease puts on the symptoms of simple insanity, uncombined with fever or inflammation of the brain, or delirium, the sooner they are placed under the curative regimen of the Hospital, the more speedy will be their recovery. Six months is about the average time that it takes patients to recover from insanity.

AMUSEMENTS.—The practice of former years has been continued, of bringing into requisition, for the relief of the tedious hours of confinement, all the available amusements.

In the warm season, it has been a common practice for a party of twenty or thirty male patients, with their attendants, to go into the open field to play base-ball for a couple of hours. This is healthy and exciting enough to be an interesting sport for quite a large number. Throwing quoits, and kicking the foot-ball, have been practised. Select parties have been off to bathe in the neighboring ponds. Some have spent a part of a day at a time in angling. All have walked out with their attendants. Parties go every pleasant day to walk. Three attendants, with some fifteen patients, ramble the hills or walk off a mile or two to visit some object of interest. This is the way a large share of the patients walk out from the male halls. Those who are not able to go far, walk separately with their attendants. The feeble men are carried out by the supervisor, who is able to take two or three trips a day, in a carriage, with three patients besides himself. Many of the convalescent and trusty men go out as they please, and seek their own amusement.

The females walk every pleasant day. All who wish it, and who will go with propriety, go out every day with their attendants. The double carriage is devoted to the service of the females. The common practice is, for this carriage to go five trips a day, of some three or four miles. Five or six persons can be comfortably seated in it, besides the coachman. The convalescents avail themselves of this mode of taking exercise; but all who desire it, ride when their turn comes.

For in-door recreations, we have cards, chequers, rolling the ball through our long halls. This is a favorite and healthy exercise for the men. We have battledoors, singing parties, and dancing parties, graces, &c. Whatever tends to invigorate the body, and divert the mind from its morbid channels of thought, is admissible; but no immoral practices are encouraged. Sometimes amusements will arrest the attention, and draw out muscular activity from the insane, where profitable labor would be rejected; in such cases, amusements are indispensable in hospitals for the insane.

Reading is the occupation of many of the inmates of the Hospital. Some spend a large share of their time in this way. Some read during the intervals of labor, and some read for a short time only; but still, it is a very important means of improvement and diversion with us. Books and periodicals are accessible to all. Many read understandingly.

By means of the daily newspapers, many keep fully informed upon the current news of the day. But few undertake any laborious reading. Their previous habits and tastes about reading are very often continued by the patients while here. Hence, the common practice of reading the Scriptures, and the periodicals as they issue from the press, are habits which are kept up by the New England population after becoming inmates of hospitals for the insane.

We have a library for the use of the patients, consisting of four or five hundred books, and of many pamphlets in addition. Most of them were judiciously selected, and are interesting.

This library has been rather increasing, for several years, by donations and purchases. The books are worn out fast, as they do not always fall into careful hands.

The profits of the matrons' sewing parties go to sustain this library. Once in every two weeks, all the female patients who are able, to the number of about seventy, assemble in the Martha Johonnot Hall, to sew and knit. They continue in session about two hours. Such of the attendants as can be spared from the halls come too. Besides doing the particular business for which they come together, these two hours are passed pleasantly in social conversation. These gatherings are orderly and quiet, as the price of admission to them is lady-like propriety and decorum on the part of all. They are looked forward to as an agreeable way of spending an afternoon; and, on the part of some, considerable interest is manifested to get the work neatly done, and to accomplish as much as possible, for it is exposed for sale in the Show Box. At least a part of the work is upon articles sold from the box, and the other part of the work is upon the linen and furniture of the Hospital. The receipts from this box, during the last twelve months, have been one hundred nine dollars and fifty cents.

We have numerous periodicals, and, for a part of them, we are under obligations to others. The newspaper presses, in this town, offer us bundles of their exchanges. The Rev. Mr. Norris often sends a bundle of his exchanges. The Rev. Mr. Hale, of this place, has sent us weekly three newspapers, for which, and for his trouble in so doing, we feel greatly obliged to him.

The following papers are sent to us gratuitously, and for which we feel ourselves under great obligations:—The Daily Advertiser, from Boston, Boston Recorder, Olive Branch, Youth's Companion, Christian Watchman, Christian Witness, Zion's Herald, Springfield Republican, Springfield Gazette, Hampshire Gazette, Fall River Monitor, Old Colony Memorial, Gospel Messenger, Harbinger, Christian Citizen, Worcester Cataract, Worcester Transcript, Monthly Religious Magazine, Lynn News, Salem Register, Congregational Visiter, Prisoner's Friend, Northampton Courier, Southern Journal of Medicine and Pharmacy, Neal's Saturday Evening Gazette.

Besides this list of gratuitous papers, the different members of our family receive, in all, weekly, about twenty periodicals, which are distributed about the galleries. Thus, almost every member of the household can read the local newspaper of his own neighborhood.

The moral and religious instruction of past years has been continued. The stated services of the Sabbath, the evening prayers, and the Bible class, have been conducted, by the Rev. Mr. Allen, in a very able and acceptable manner. Our chapel is filled on the Sabbath with an attentive and quiet audience of about two hundred patients, and their attendants. They are gratified and benefited by assembling for social worship. These meetings are conducted like the religious services in the churches in the neighborhood. The same exposition of truth, best adapted to promiscuous congregations, would be proper and fit for our household; but still I would not advise that strong appeals be made to the feelings of the insane from the sacred desk, nor would I recommend that the terrors of the divine law be prominently put forth; but, as a general rule, the consolations and cheering promises of the Scriptures are required, to relieve the despondency and broken spirit of a majority of our congregation.

The singing is very creditable to those who take part in it. The choir is composed of our attendants and patients. They contribute a very interesting part to the religious services in the evenings and on the Sabbaths.

The effect of religious services upon our household is, in all respects, favorable. We could hardly get along without the regular forenoon and afternoon services in our chapel on the Sabbath. Unlike other days, we cannot get out of doors for exercise on Sundays; and, were it not for our chapel, we should be obliged to keep most of our inmates from morning till night in our wards. We do not expect, nor look for, any very particular and sudden manifestation of divine truth upon our congregation; but the beneficial effect is general. It pervades the whole assembly, by inspiring each with a more healthy, moral, and religious feeling.

A school was in operation a part of last winter. About twenty-five of our patients attended. Enough was done to satisfy us that a school for the insane was practicable, and might be made useful to many. Some information could be obtained, and the minds of those who could be made interested in the business would be kept active and drawn off from their delusions for the time.

Farming and horticulture, for the past year, have been pursued by us with our accustomed success. The crops have been abundant, as the subjoined enumeration will show. Our attention has been turned less to the raising of corn and potatoes than to other crops. The tilled soil here is not adapted to produce the potato of the best quality. It is too light and sandy, or it may be that a rotation of crops is needed to resuscitate the soil.

Such crops as require the most care and labor, which we have in the ready assistance of our patients to bestow, give the largest returns for the number of acres cultivated. We require a large amount of garden vegetables. It would be difficult to purchase our supply of them; but we are, by the situation of our gardens and by the assistance of patients, conveniently situated for raising them. The following are some of the articles, with their value:—

There was raised, for wintering the stock :—

Twenty cows and two oxen were pastured on the farm. There are about one hundred acres now attached to the Hospital, and it is all of it absolutely needed for the uses of the Hospital. That part of it which has not been paid for, I recommend should be secured to the institution.

The live stock now consists of four horses, four oxen, seventeen cows, twenty-six swine, and seventy fowls.

In the shoe shop, from two to five patients have worked daily with Mr. David Hitchcock. They have not at any time been urged to work hard, but they go there as an amusement, and to keep their minds occupied by something besides their own delusions. Some have completed their recovery, and probably hastened it too, by being employed here.

The following is the report of the condition of this shop for the past year :—

This shop is a convenience to the Hospital. It supplies the inmates with shoes cheaper and better than we can obtain elsewhere, and it gives beneficial employment to a few of our inmates.

At this time, two of our male patients are away from the Hospital on visits with their friends.

In conclusion, I would gladly acknowledge my obligations to the kindness, skill, and efficiency of Drs. J. R. Lee and Rufus Woodward, in the management of the institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, steward and matron, have continued with us and given their important services to the good of the institution. I have always relied with confidence upon their good judgment in whatever relates to their departments.

Mr. and Mrs. Mirick, supervisors, have, by their kindness to the poor insane, and by their attention to their duties, given great satisfaction. Our large company of attendants and assistants have performed their several duties very acceptably. Their department of labor is peculiar and arduous; and, for all instances where the welfare of the patient and success of the institution have been manifested, an approving conscience will reward them. They are a most respectable class of persons. There are none in the community more so.

We have entered upon the commencement of another year of the institution under favorable auspices; and I trust that its results to the cause of humanity will be as favorable as any former one.

Most respectfully submitted,

GEO. CHANDLER.

Whenever provoked by insult or abusive language, they shall keep cool, forbear to recriminate, scold, or irritate, never dictate in language of authority, unless absolutely necessary, never lay violent hands on patients except in self-defence, and to prevent their injuring themselves or injuring others, and never inflict a blow. As far as possible, they shall maintain their authority by kindness of manner and dignity of deportment.

SEC. 2. Restraints shall never be put on patients unless by order of the Superintendent.

SEC. 3. Every patient shall be in the charge of some responsible individual at all times, unless permitted to be at large by the Superintendent.

SEC. 4. Whenever a patient is taken from the halls by any person duly authorized, that person shall be responsible for the safe-keeping of the patient until returned to the hall, or intrusted by the Officer to the care of another.

SEC. 5. No patient shall be permitted to go out of the wings except in conformity to the directions of the Superintendent.

SEC. 6. No Officer or Attendant shall report abroad the conduct or conversation of any of the patients.

SEC. 7. No one in attendance upon the patients shall in any way ridicule them, nor mock or imitate them in such a manner as to wound their feelings, but shall always be regardful of their situation, and treat them with unvarying propriety.

SEC. 8. Whenever a patient commences any improper conversation, or seeks a controversy with any one, the Officer or Attendant in charge must use every effort to check the impropriety by gentle means ; but if these fail, more vigorous and effectual measures must be promptly adopted, so as to prevent the commitment of any impropriety, or the disturbance of the quiet of the gallery.

CHAPTER XIX.

ATTENDANCE UPON RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

SEC. 1. All persons employed in the Hospital, who are well and can be spared from their duties in the house or in the halls, shall attend evening prayers, and the religious services on the Sabbath, both morning and evening, unless leave of absence be specially granted.

SEC. 2. Officers and Attendants shall take especial care that their demeanor during the services shall be strictly becoming, and worthy of imitation ; and it shall be considered a noticeable breach of duty for any one to sleep habitually while present in the Chapel.

SEC. 3. The attendance of patients in the Chapel shall be under the direction of the Superintendent ; and all the arrangements which he may direct concerning them, shall be faithfully carried into effect by the other officers and the attendants.

SEC. 3. All persons who have duty to perform in the Hospital, shall rise in the morning at the ringing of the bell.
